

Fred Waring To Present Local Benefit Concert

FRED WARING and the Pennsylvanians will present a benefit concert Wednesday night, May 29, in the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College auditorium.

It will be the first public appearance of the Pennsylvanians in Monroe County in about 10 years. They have, however, made recent radio broadcasts from Shawnee and Delaware Water Gap, headquarters for Waring Enterprises.

The May 29 concert is being arranged by a committee headed by directors of the Monroe County YMCA. It will come as the wind-up of the association's concerted drive May 13 which is aimed at wiping out a $30,000 building fund indebtedness. The debt results from the failure and inability of some people to pay the pledges they made before the new building was erected.

Permission to use the college auditorium was granted by Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president, in a letter to M. S. Baldwin, chairman of the sponsoring committee. Arrangements with the Waring organization are being made by J. L. Cohen.

Serving on the committee with Baldwin, Cohen and Dr. Koehler are these other directors: Mrs. Clifford Heller, Mrs. W. R. Toewe, Alex Bensinger, president of the

Fred Waring
YMCA board, and John F. Hill. Other names will be added later.

Eisenhower Signs Post Office Bill

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed a 41-million-dollar appropriation bill for the Post Office Department tonight. Postmaster General Summerfield immediately announced the resumption of normal mail service, to be made effective within 24 hours.

While Summerfield used the term "normal mail service" in his announcement, details of his statement showed that some restrictions would be continued for a time at least.

Downtown business area deliveries are to be kept at two a day Mondays through Fridays, with one delivery on Saturday, he said. Some such areas normally had three or four.

The money will provide additional operating funds for the remainder of this fiscal year, ending June 30.

In order to make it available without further delay, Congress put on an unusual display of speed today. Summerfield, who had curtailed mail service last week, said in his statement tonight:

"I am happy to announce the resumption of normal mail service and am gratified to have the overwhelming affirmative vote of the Congress giving the department funds for this purpose."

"Within 24 hours mail service will be back on nearly the same basis it was prior to the issuance of our order last Friday."

"Every effort, I can assure you, will be made to continue to give the public the best possible mail service; to keep postal employees on the job; and to operate as economically as we can."

Summerfield noted that the emergency funds voted by Congress are six million dollars short of the 47 million dollars he had said he needed to finish out the quarter without service curtailments started to take effect last Saturday with the weekend closing of all post offices and suspension of Saturday deliveries.

Difficult Job
Summerfield said the department is "still faced" with a difficult job to maintain service within the funds available.

However, he said some savings had already accumulated as a result of last weekend's close down and the subsequent limitation of window service hours and reduction of business area deliveries effective yesterday.

Final congressional action came with House acceptance of a comparatively minor item put in the appropriation bill by the Senate.

Ship Survivor Dies
UNIONTOWN, April 16 (AP)—Mrs. Angelina Grego of Uniontown, a survivor of the collision last July 25 of the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm, died today at Uniontown Hospital.

Both reports were presented to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. Strontium-90 has been called the worst poison from bomb tests. It stays dangerously radioactive for many years, and tends to concentrate in the bones after it enters the body.

Teamsters Believe Charge 'Unfounded'

GALVESTON, Tex., April 16 (AP)—The Teamsters' top command declared today that AFL-CIO accusations of corrupt influences were unsupported by specific charges and that it would attend no hearings until "fundamentals of fair adjudication" are assured.

The executive board of the 1,350,000-member union said when a hearing under satisfactory conditions is held the entire board will answer the charges, not just President Dave Beck, target of Senate and AFL-CIO investigations.

The Teamsters also said that the national labor federation was without authority in suspending Beck as a vice president of the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

The 62-year-old Beck was obviously pleased at the outcome of a one-day meeting of the board at this seaside resort city. Smiling broadly as he emerged from the conference room, Beck was asked if he was happy.

Executive Board
"Yes, I'm happy. The action of the executive board is clear and it is an understandable text," Beck said. "It is in harmony with what I thought the board would do. It is a step toward a solution as we would like to have it determined. In my opinion the action is in concert with the best interests of the membership."

The Teamster executive board members did not flatly refuse to attend a hearing set by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee May 6. The hearing could result in their ouster.

But they adopted a resolution setting forth conditions for such a hearing and the time that would be involved in preparing a case would probably preclude appearance at a hearing only three weeks away.

The resolution said provisions should be made for specific written charges, the right to confront accusers, the right to cross-examine those who support the charges, the right to submit evidence in defense, and the right to adjudication by a tribunal which has not prejudged the case.

Clark Accuses Tallamy Of Diverting Shortway

Scranton Mayor Enters Senate Probe Of Unions

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Bulky, heavy-jawed Paul Bradshaw today drew the mayor and district attorney of Scranton into his account before Senate investigators of alleged union terrorism in eastern Pennsylvania.

Bradshaw, a former Teamsters Union steward, said Mayor James T. Hanlon had asked him to "hold off" implicating other union officials until after an election.

Hanlon immediately fired off a "categorical" denial from Scranton.

Bradshaw told the Senate Labor Rackets Investigating Committee he had "taken the rap" for a union-inspired dynamiting.

Failure
When the union failed to get him work thereafter, Bradshaw said, he told business agent John Durkin of Local 229 he would go to Dist. Atty. Carlton O'Malley and name higher-ups.

"Go ahead, we've got him taken care of," he quoted Durkin as replying. "You're only going to get yourself in deeper and deeper."

Bradshaw, now awaiting sentence for dynamiting a house to "organize" a building contractor, said he told Hanlon on a Scranton street, "I've got something that is going to turn the city upside down."

He quoted the Democratic Mayor's reply: "Paul, wait until after the election." He said Hanlon added: "I'll see the district attorney and see what can be done."

Bradshaw did not testify as to the date of this encounter, but he told reporters later the reference was to a primary in the spring of 1955. Hanlon, he said, was not a candidate in this election.

Bradshaw's testimony brought a quick telegram from Hanlon saying he never asked the witness to "lay off" the case.

"I hereby take this means to deny categorically that I ever spoke to the witness at any time about the case he testified to under oath," Hanlon added.

Hanlon asked that his telegram be read into the record, but committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) refused. He directed committee counsel Robert Kennedy to notify the mayor he could come to Washington and testify or file a sworn statement.

Kennedy said Hanlon already had been so advised.

Then McClellan recalled Bradshaw to the witness chair, reminding him he was under oath, and told him of the mayor's denial.

Bradshaw firmly repeated his testimony.

McClellan asked Bradshaw whether he had ever pursued with Hanlon "what could be done."

Testimony
Bradshaw said he had not. "That's when I came out with the recordings," he said, referring to secretly made tape recordings which reportedly implicate other union officials on conspiracy charges involving violence and destruction. The recordings have been given to a Scranton newspaper (Tribune), but may not be heard at the current hearings.

Jordan Cabinet In Control

AMMAN, Jordan, April 16 (AP)—Jordan's new government, which is expected to turn this Middle Eastern kingdom aside from its drift toward the Arab pro-Soviet camp, appeared to be in solid control today.

Tough Bedouin troops and security police, who supported 21-year-old King Hussein when he placed his crown on the line at the height of Jordan's six-day political crisis, maintained strict order.

All was quiet except in Jordan-held Old Jerusalem and Nablus, where minor demonstrations were reported. A few persons were injured in Jerusalem where some Leftist students staged a parade and were attacked by members of the Moslem Brotherhood.

The new government of Premier Hussein Fakhri Khalidi, which took office yesterday, is expected to carry out a swift cleanup of pro-Communist elements who had infiltrated the government, schools and army during the regime of ex-Premier Suleiman Nabulsi.

Amman sympathizers of the elements expected to be purged have been warned not to start any disturbances.

One sign of the drift in future affairs may be seen in whether King Hussein now issues a firm invitation to James P. Richards, President Eisenhower's Special envoy who is in the Middle East explaining the President's plans for military and economic assistance to governments which oppose communism. The new regime's fate may depend largely on the outside economic aid it receives.

Nabulsi, who is foreign minister in the new government, had not issued such an invitation. While premier he declared he would not sign any agreement for U. S. aid if he had to commit himself to fighting communism. His government also had started proceedings to engage in full diplomatic relations with Moscow, something Jordan never has done before.

He is back in his old room in a $6-a-week waterfront hotel.

"I'm going to ask my old boss for the dishwashing job back. It feels good to be done with all that money, but I've got a hunch I'm going to win the Sweepstakes again in June. I've always been a gambler," he said.

Second Grader Beats Tax Deadline
PITTSBURGH, April 16 (AP)—Sandra Martin, eight, beat the midnight income tax deadline and is still wondering what it is all about.

Last year Sandra appeared in the television show, "On Your Account," and won a $500 savings bond, a child's soda fountain and $125. It added up to $1,350 in fair value.

Internal Revenue
Sandra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Martin, were notified by the Internal Revenue Service that Sandra owed $125 tax. The big problem was withdrawing the money from her savings account.

"Why can't I wait until I'm old enough to spend it on bonds and then pay the tax? Will I have to pay $125 every year until the government gets it all back?" she asked.

A couple of good questions from a second-grader.

Forbes Tops Dumont In Jersey Primary

NEWARK, N. J., April 16 (AP)—State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes defeated State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. tonight by a thumping margin to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Forbes will oppose Gov. Robert B. Meyner at the November election. Meyner was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

With 2,850 of New Jersey's 4,213 election districts reporting, the unofficial count was Forbes 123,143; Dumont 67,821. It was a light voter turnout.

Dumont conceded at 11 p. m., congratulating Forbes in a telegram and offering him "best wishes for success."

Forbes has repeatedly claimed during his campaign that the New Jersey gubernatorial race will show whether the Republican party can win without the "magic name" of President Eisenhower.

Key State
A Republican victory will demonstrate the depth of "Eisenhower Republicanism" while a defeat will mean a key state under Democratic patronage for the 1960 presidential election, Forbes said.

Only New Jersey and Virginia elect governors this year.

Forbes, 37, publisher of the Forbes Magazine for Business, had the backing of most big county organizations.

Dumont, 42, an attorney, waged an active campaign despite starting odds against him.

Aside from the race for the gubernatorial nomination, there were six primary contests for the Republican-controlled Legislature.

Lenten Meditation
Rev. Kenneth Heckman Jr.
Poccano Lake Methodist Church

DID IT EVER occur to you that by our standards it was foolish for Jesus to die upon the cross? He didn't have to die then and in that way. It was not only an untimely ending, but in many ways an uncalculated one—it was an ending that could have easily been prevented had He just left town for a while until the trouble and the discontent blew over. Think how many years of preaching He might have done as well as the number of healings He might have done and the number of persons whose lives He might have changed!

But, He didn't think of that way out—He chose to die and in doing so He healed the souls of men and changed the courses of lives of millions of men in all ages.

We can draw a meaningful analogy from this for our own lives. It cannot be denied that the will to live is strongly established in our lives—a fight for life is a part of our very natures. But is the end always to be reached regardless of the means?

Sometimes we must face situations where to fear personal danger and death is to turn our backs on all that is near and dear to us, and it is to deny our Christ even as Peter did. In contrast, to face it squarely and without this fear is often the deepest affirmation of our faith. This then is not something that is far from us . . . it is rather that which affects our everyday decisions and maps out the whole course of our lives. The tendency for us to stay near home where we feel protected, the hesitancy to enter a job or vocation that might be difficult or which might pose personal threats, the temptation to follow a course which gives no obstacles but also little or no challenge, the rationalization of the greatest financial success; these and many other decisions are familiar to all of us, for this is what we face daily.

Is our body then, both physical and spiritual, to be preserved and dedicated to itself alone or is it to be utilized for a higher purpose than itself?

Jesus felt that it was time for him to die . . . He could see no other way which was within the realm of the will of God. And He, therefore, faced this without fear—and without hesitation. Have we the right to offer any less of ourselves in His name if the time and the case demands?

DEADLINES

Advertising copy deadlines, just as news copy deadlines, are necessary . . . in fact, are imperative to the publication of a newspaper.

Enforcement of deadlines makes it possible to give readers a better newspaper, delivered on schedule. A better newspaper, promptly delivered to all sections of the trading area, means a better advertising medium.

It follows that adequate time for the proper handling of advertising copy, without interference with the mechanics of news production . . . and without jeopardizing the "on time" delivery of the newspaper . . . permits the better handling of advertising copy to work to the advantage of the advertiser in a better advertising medium.

In the interest of better serving ALL advertisers, all copy for display advertising, including CLASSIFIED DISPLAY, must meet the following deadlines:

Monday Copy	5 P.M. Friday
Tuesday Copy	12 Noon Saturday
Wednesday Copy	5 P.M. Monday
Thursday Copy	5 P.M. Tuesday
Friday Copy	5 P.M. Wednesday
Saturday Copy	5 P.M. Thursday
(Holiday Intervening—5 P.M. 3 days before publication)

When Proof Is Required
Prior To Publication of the Ad

The Deadline Is Noon
(Instead of 5 P.M.) on the days indicated above

Eaton Awarded College Fellowship

JOHN C. EATON has been awarded a national Woodrow Wilson fellowship to continue his studies in musical composition and musicology at Princeton.

Eaton is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. Eaton, East Stroudsburg High School, he has won more scholarships than any other high school honor student in Monroe County history.

At the time of his graduation, Eaton was the winner of no less than six scholarship offers from major universities throughout the U.S. He chose to enter Princeton with a scholarship to that university.

He is one of 302 young men and women from across the nation to receive the Wilson memorial fellowships this year—a record breaking total.

Announcement of the fellowship awards was made last night by Richard C. Boys, University of Michigan associate professor of English who heads the national program.

Woodrow Wilson fellowships are awarded only upon invitation after nomination by established members of the academic profession. They are intended to allow young scholars to try out their interests in the first year of graduate work and thus determine whether they wish to enter careers of teaching and scholarship.

Top honors among the 149 institutions represented went to Princeton, which carried off 14 fellowships, including Eaton's.

Johnny Eaton has already gained national recognition for one phase of his interest in music. Two years ago he was signed to an exclusive recording contract by Columbia Records.

Under terms of this contract, Columbia has exclusive rights to record Eaton's work with his own modern jazz combo, solo piano works, original compositions and as a classical soloist. He is an expert pianist and composer.

Davlin Moves To Extinguish Old Fire

HARRISBURG, April 16 (AP)—The State Commerce Department today recommended allocation of $486,700 to the Carbonade Redevelopment Authority to help extinguish the 10-year-old underground mine fire there.

William R. Davlin, Commerce secretary, sent the recommendation to Gov. Leader for final approval.

The money comes for a five million dollar fund established in the last Legislature for assisting community development projects.

Putting out the fire — which threatens to spread underneath ground in the city's business district — is the major objective in a multimillion redevelopment project to be financed by the federal, state and local governments.

"This is not an ordinary redevelopment project. We are not racing against urban decay here but rather against an underground fire which is threatening the lives of people," said Daniel Rogers, head of the department's Housing and Redevelopment Division.

Formal

"This is a formal allocation of money. The next step, after the total cost of the over-all project has been determined, will be to execute a contract for final payment of the money."

"The state wants to do all it can to give the authority enough money to get started so as to have barriers erected to prevent the fire from spreading," Rogers told a newsman.

Past efforts by state and federal agencies to extinguish the fire by fushing and drilling failed.

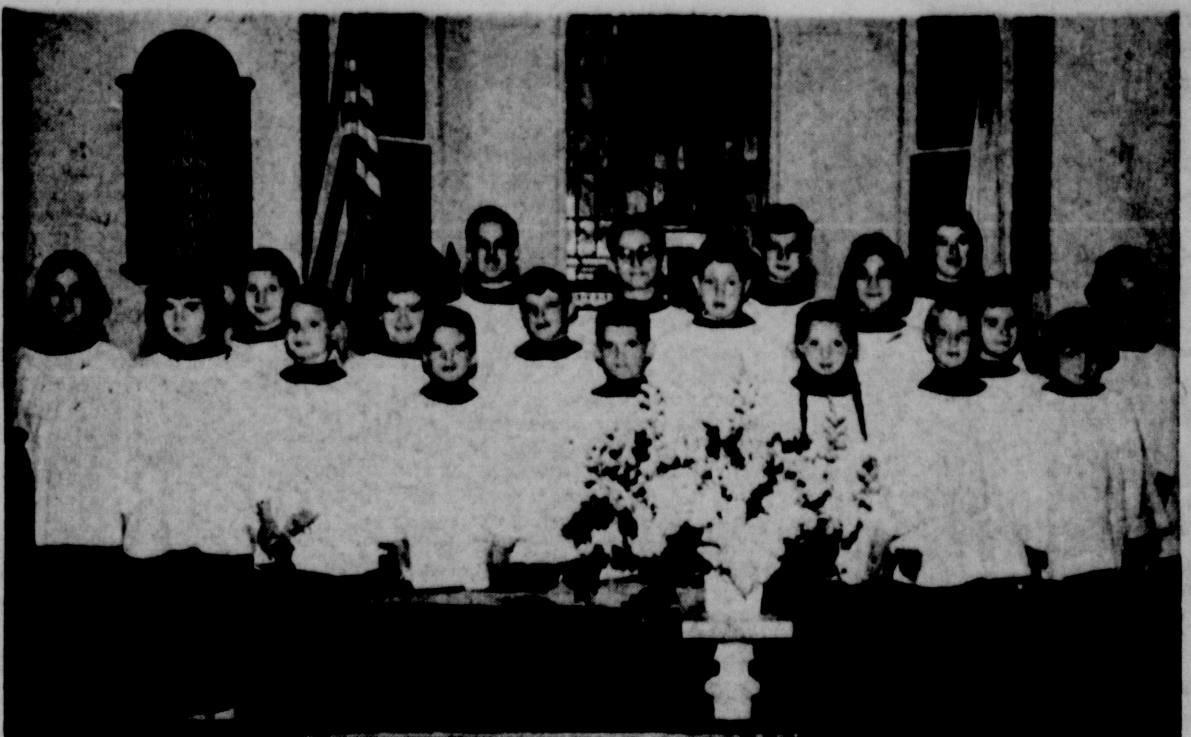

Some 357 dwellings on the community's west side are due to be razed as excavation begins to dig out the fire.

The flames, giving off carbon monoxide fumes that caused the death of two persons several years ago, have been fed by coal deposits.

Bloom Issues Statement

HARRISBURG, April 16 (AP)—George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, today described the appointment yesterday of a new deputy revenue secretary as evidence Gov. Leader "is unsatisfied with the way the department is being run."

Bloom in a statement referred to the appointment of A. Allen Sulcove, Philadelphia, as first deputy secretary in charge of administration under Gerald A. Gleeson, Revenue secretary.

Salary

Sulcove's salary has been set at $16,500 annually.

"Gov. Leader should get a new secretary of revenue if he lacks confidence in his present one instead of putting in new deputies every other month at greatly increased cost to the taxpayers," Bloom said.

Highway Fatalities Continue Upward

Death on U.S. highways continues to climb and the finger of blame is pointed directly at Mr. Average Motorist himself in a highway safety book entitled "Heedless Horsepower" which a large insurance company is distributing nationally.

More than 40,000 Americans were killed and 2,368,000 injured on our highways last year, according to the report and an analysis of these casualties shows that human error was the biggest factor in a big majority of the cases.

Faulty equipment was blamed for less than four percent of the fatalities. Bad weather prevailed in only 15 percent of the instances. Accidents occurred when cars were going straight ahead in 75 percent of the cases.

As a state police corporal told the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club last week, by far the greatest number of traffic accidents can be traced to lack of courtesy, lack of knowledge and lack of judgment. When the element of "heedless horsepower" is added, the results are frequently disastrous.

Some statisticians have attempted to prove the dangers on our highways are decreasing, because the rate of death per miles traveled and vehicles registered has decreased sharply in recent years.

But the issue is the same now as it was 51 years ago when the keeping of accident rates began. It cannot be stated in terms of numbers of miles or number of automobiles. At best these give cold comfort.

The issue is one of human life, of men, women and children killed or injured regardless of how many miles they traveled or how many cars they passed on their way to their accident.

Fourteen persons have lost their lives on Monroe County highways already this year. If this rate continues, we face the grim prospect of 1957 going down in history as the worst year in history for traffic fatalities.

With the heavy-travel months of Summer just ahead, every driver should resolve to observe all traffic laws, drive with care and use common sense judgment. Above all, learn that horsepower in the hands of the headless is the fundamental cause of our ever-increasing toll of disaster.

Work Week Of Four Days Not New Idea

The four-day work week which Walter P. Reuther, newly elected president of the United Auto Workers, is reported to be sponsoring is not as new or novel as it sounds.

It was the subject of a lengthy article prepared by Robert Nathan back in the depression days of the 1930s.

Mr. Nathan was then a young economist whom President Franklin D. Roosevelt established in the Commerce Department. He is now a private economic consultant who is highly influential in Americans for Democratic Action—where FDR's widow raises a mighty voice.

Nathan's theory of national prosperity is based on gigantic spending. He believes the economy could be kept at peak activity through heavy federal expenditures. These he would pour out in a regulated way so as to meet the needs of the national economy.

George Sokolsky Says...

What's Wrong With 1890? We Displayed Growth As Nation, Settled Own Business

President Eisenhower, in his April 10 press conference, in reply to a question, said:

"... Now, I happen to believe that in this day and time we cannot use the governmental processes that were applicable in 1890. We have got to adapt the great principles of the Constitution to the inescapable industrial and economic conditions of our time, and make certain that our country is secure, and our people participate in the progress of our economy."

Does this mean that we are to change our Constitution every decade or so to meet the fashions of the moment? What was so wrong in 1890? We were at peace. The population was much smaller than it is today, about 62,000,000 people, of whom 40,000,000 lived in rural communities.

The immigration to the United States was continuing, 455,000 in 1890, but significantly the largest numbers came from Germany 92,000, Great Britain 69,000, and Ireland 53,000.

In 1890, the average working day was 10 hours for all non-agricultural employment and the biggest industry was the building trade. Most workers did a 58 hour week and were paid an average of 21 cents an hour, but the dollar bought lots of food, although it did not come as packaged and advertised as it does today.

Women knew how to cook and bake and butchers knew how to cut up a steer so that every thing was used, including the innards. It was a cheerful life, if not an easy one.

There were no automobiles, but horses were plentiful and one of the principal agricultural products was oats to feed them. There was no radio, no television and no photogenic candidates for public office.

However, gold coin was in circulation and the dollar had a gold base. There was no income tax, the government receiving most of its revenue from customs duties. In 1890, the total expenditure of the Federal Government was $318,000,000 which needs to be compared with the Eisenhower budget of 1957-58 of $71,800,000,000. The interest on the public debt was only $36,000,000.

The total public debt was only $1,122,000,000, a per capita of $17.80 which is to be compared with 1957 when the public debt is $274,573,938,354. We ended World War Two in 1945 with a gross public debt of $258,682,000,000 or a per capita of $1,852.74. Was 1890 so bad?

Business has developed freely as the new country opened up. The year 1890 ended a period of great endeavor and enormous risk. It was in that year, 1890, that the Sherman Anti-Trust Act was passed by Congress and signed by a Republican President. The wording of this act contains interesting features, as for instance, this clause:

"Every contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states, or with foreign na-

—by H. I. Phillips

more killing burdens, and if frequent interludes on the fairways, reached the easiest way, give him relaxation this corner cries. "Let him have 'em, and no carping!" Tens of thousands of men with fewer burdens than like take to the golf course every day for relaxation, nobody dissenting and nobody yelling. "This is awful. He should stick to the job and wear himself to a frazzle." To like golf is a strain-removing recreation. Every step he takes on a golf course (unless the rough is too deep) is probably important to the nation. One or two ten-foot putts (on a slanting green) give like such a life that to America they can be worth the cost of a half dozen helicopters.

The ancient Scotch game takes a man's mind off his harassments as few things do. Near East worries disappear on a near golf links. The Suez headache can be helped swiftly by concentration on a driving tee. Even the budget problem can seem trifling when a golfer goes into his backswing. Dwight D. Eisenhower can make a better President getting in his golf as he needs it and traveling to and from with minimum delays, say we.

We would rather see him going by "copter" than by auto in modern highway traffic. Since the recent speeding episode, Ike has explained that he is often busy on important papers in the back seat and doesn't realize how fast the car is going. (Okay here. All we ask, if he goes to Gettysburg by car, is that he sit up front when preparing any safe-driving proclamation.)

Jimmy MacArthur, 19-year-old son of Helen Hayes, is wonderful in his movie debut in "The Young Stranger" and Helen is about the happiest mommer around. The kid has rare talent. Dr. John Bodkin Adams, British doctor, found not guilty of speeding wealthy widows to the cemetery, is writing his life story and we assume the publisher hopes it will make a "killing."...

Who's Going To Buy What You're Selling

By Anne Heywood

In setting up a home service or product, the most important thing to consider is one we frequently overlook. And that is, what kind of customers are you going to have? Will you appeal to the low income groups or to the carriage trade? Until you decide that, you're really up in the air.

For example, if you want to cater to the rich, you can have such services as catering, social secretarial, house-plant-tending, planning children's parties, decorating and even, once in a blue moon, personal shopping.

I know a woman who charges a large weekly fee for spending several hours a week in the homes of a half-dozen rich matrons, balancing their checkbooks and handling their personal correspondence. I know another who works with a fancy florist and charges a weekly fee for planning and arranging house plants and cut flowers.

Not Interested

But if your available customers are in the low or medium income group, they won't be interested in such services. Even decorating, which is frequently a real money saver, is a luxury to certain people and they will not use it. For you, as an individual, to try to re-educate them is a waste of time. It's better to select a service which they already know they need and want.

For the low or middle income people, think of such basic services as baby-sitting, repairing furniture or equipment, altering or remodeling clothes.

If the wife works, the list can be expanded to include cleaning, marketing, doing errands, taking children to the dentist or on trips to buy clothes, cooking occasional meals and sometimes making slip covers and curtains.

You will save yourself much misery by researching your customers before you begin. It doesn't matter how charming a children's party service you offer, the young mother on a limited budget is not going to be able to use it.

Reasons For Failure

I recently did a survey of the home services which succeeded and the ones which failed. The two major reasons for failure are first, entering a field you are not interested in, and second, lack of knowledge of the potential market. To say airily, as so many people do, "Oh, it's a natural—I know we'll have lots and lots of customers," is a tragic and often fatal mistake!

Which Income Group Will Your Product Attract?

If you'd like to set up a home service, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of this paper, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Try and Stop Me

Phyllis McGinley proves that there lives in our land one honest female, at least. She's seven years old—and she admitted calmly to her mother and father that Billy Brown had kissed her after class. "How did that happen?" gasped her mother.

"It wasn't easy," admitted the young lady. "but three girls helped me catch him."

"Kipling was right," proclaimed a cynical sophomore. "Woman is nothing but a rag, a bone, and a hank of hair."

"Hey-hey!" mocked his roommate. "Shake hands with a busy young junk dealer!"

Robert S. Allen Reports...

Senate Probers Restrict Actions Of Young Attorney

Washington, April 16—Something new has been added to the Senate committee investigating labor racketeering.

It's a set of hobbles on dynamic young chief counsel Robert Kennedy.

These unannounced curbs are as follows: Kennedy is to issue no more statements or give interviews without the approval of Chairman John McClellan (D-Ark.) or the committee.

No new probes are to be started by Kennedy in the states of committee members without their prior knowledge.

These restrictions were imposed at the insistence of four committee members—Senators Karl Mundt (R-S.D.), Irving Ives (R-N.Y.), Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), and Joe McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Ives and Mundt were the prime movers in the crackdown, with McCarthy and Goldwater heartily supporting them.

Senator John Kennedy (D-Mass.), older brother of the 31-year-old racket buster, did not oppose the limitations put on him. The former listened without comment to the complaints of his committee colleagues.

They occurred at a private meeting in Chairman McClellan's office.

Mundt voiced the first protest against young Kennedy, citing statements made by him during a New York visit regarding a forthcoming investigation there. This complaint was vigorously echoed by Ives, who emphasized his objections by displaying a newspaper picture of Kennedy conferring with a local district attorney.

What Iiked Them—Senator McClellan warmly defended the committee's youthful attorney.

"Bob is doing an outstanding job," said McClellan. "He is an able, resourceful and indefatigable worker, and a great help in this highly important work we are doing."

"I have no criticism on that score," declared Mundt. "I think Bob is a fine young man. But I also think he is talking out of turn. I have a letter from officials of a union, which Bob told the press he is investigating, and that these people are uncooperative."

"Now I never even heard of this investigation, to say nothing about these union officials being uncooperative. I strongly object to our counsel breaking into print with an investigation that is not known to members of the committee. I want to be told about these matters before they get into the headlines."

Senator Ives raised another point. "Every member of this committee," he contended, "should be notified of any investigation that is to take place in his own state. I was shocked to get my first information about this New York investigation from the newspapers there, with statements Bob gave them about this matter."

With Goldwater and McCarthy joining in urging curbs on Kennedy, a compromise was proposed by McClellan.

"Bob may be a bit over-zealous at times," said McClellan, "but he certainly means no harm. He is not trying to put over anything or to run this committee. I think the problem can be effectively handled by clearing all statements with me or the committee, and having each member kept fully informed of all investigative activity in his state."

The GOP protesters said this would be agreeable to them "to see how it works out."

Anti-Racket Law—Senator Kennedy is slated to hand a subcommittee of the probers to draft legislation to put an end to the abuses that are uncovered. There is little likelihood such a bill will be presented at this session of Congress, as the investigation will run into next year.

The Justice Department is considering the testimony of Nathan Shefferman, Chicago labor-management consultant, for possible violation of the Taft-Hartley Act. The investigators are far from finished with Shefferman's activities. A detailed study is being made of his and Teamster boss Dave Beck's connections with several hundred firms going back over a number of years.

One case under scrutiny involves a $50,000 payment. At one committee session, Senator McCarthy demanded a sweeping probe of the United Auto Workers. Chairman McClellan asked McCarthy for evidence backing up his charges. "The function of this committee is not to engage in witch-hunting," said McClellan. "You produce proof of wrongdoing, and the staff will go to work on it. Otherwise, we have too many other things to occupy our time and attention."

Chief counsel Robert Kennedy insists he does not plan to run for political office next year. In Massachusetts, he has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Congress and State Attorney General, but he shrugs off such reports.

Dear Bobby Westbrook:

About a few eeks ago there were some newspaper articles on "Children Needing the Church." I will tell you that those articles helped as we had more children than ever that Sunday.

The parents must have read the paper's articles, too. Now it is turnabout for Easter Sunday as the children have learned their Easter pieces, and practiced songs. So, the children need their parents for Easter Sunday at the churches.

My New York

New York—Roughly, citizens of the United States can be split into two categories: the ones who push their way swiftly through revolving doors, endangering everyone else's life and limb, and the ones who drag and hold the doors back, muttering "Waddy waddy, kill me!"

I am a pusher. I can't help it. Well—there go 50 years of My New York.

I bring up this touchy issue because I just have been looking over an invention that, if universally adopted, may end the push-pull mish-mash. After noting here briefly the other day that a Lexington avenue bank had come up with a "doorless door," I put on my snowshoes (in April, yet) and rushed over to test it. It works. It's unimpressive, but it works.

Actually, the "doorless door" is an invisible but continuous flow of air that fans across the entrance to the Knickerbocker Federal Savings and Loan Assn. and enables that institution to forget about conventional doors—during daytime hours. "We were disturbed," says Louis Boecher, the bank's president, "when we saw people with packages struggling with the traditional door, older persons laboring to push their way in, or women cautiously entering with their children. We concluded it would be a genuine public service to have no doors at all."

It also was an extremely shrewd publicity step. Oh, Louis

Chest Gives Plaque To M. S. Baldwin

By Jim Riley

Marty Baldwin, recently named to receive the Benjamin Rush Award by the Monroe County Medical Society, was still more recently honored by the Monroe County Community Chest.

Baldwin was presented a plaque by Holt Wyckoff, current president of Community Chest for the outstanding job the former turned in while leading the battle to raise $76,000 last year. This was the highest amount ever raised, except for the flood year.

The plaque was presented by Wyckoff "in recognition of outstanding achievement in serving the human needs of our community and many other services performed for the Monroe County Community Chest which includes the campaign chairman during the 1953-1954 drive and as president for the year 1956."

Marty has had a hand in virtually everything in Monroe County down through the years, ranging from Little League baseball to an active role in the Chamber of Commerce.

He never appears to run out of energy. He is now in the midst of preparing for the annual Eastern Pennsylvania Coaches Assn. clinic to be held at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in June. This year the clinic promises to be bigger and better than ever.

Marty and Mrs. Baldwin are scheduled to move to their new home near Glen Brook this week.

Next week Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin and Dr. and Mrs. Evan Reese will vacation in New Orleans, where Dr. Reese will also attend a convention of surgeons.

Harry and Joyce Werkheiser, Tannersville, celebrated a wedding anniversary yesterday.

Harry is a veteran teacher at Pocono High School, Tannersville.

Jerry Smeltz, East Stroudsburg native, is currently enroute home from Okinawa for a furlough. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smeltz, 277 S. Courtland St.

Jerry is making a career out of the Army.

Nelson Remy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Remy, 300 N. 9th St., Stroudsburg, recently pledged Delta Sigma Pi, international business fraternity at the University of Miami (Fla.).

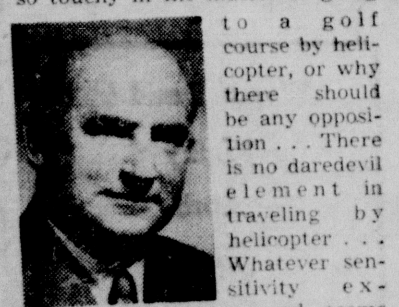

Remy is a junior majoring in management in the School of Business Administration.

Richard Matthews, a chemistry and physics teacher at Washington, N. J., High School, plans to attend the Institute for Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn., in August.

Matthews is a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and obtained his Master's Degree from Penn State.

Teachers Take Part In Workshop

BANGOR—Teachers of the Bangor Area Joint High School System participated in their final workshop on Monday while students of the schools were enjoying a fishing holiday.

Taking as the theme of the concluding workshop for the 1956-57 school year "The Evaluation of Pupil Progress", teachers and administrators studied together in graded areas the great need for an understanding of the parents, pupils and teachers among each other in this all important phase of education.

Arnold F. Wynne acted as the chairman for the meeting, while Millard Gleim, president of the Bangor Area Joint Branch of the Pennsylvania State Education Assn., conducted the preliminary portions of the meeting.

Elementary discussions on the new evaluating proposals to be made to the board of education were conducted by Mrs. Gladys Mace as chairlady assisted by Mrs. Gloria Fisher and Mrs. Charles Schwep. The junior high school area was conducted by Armon M. Williams, with Miss Florence Giacinto acting as the secretary and reporter. In the senior high school level, Granville R. Evans served as chairman and Louis Guida as secretary and reporter.

The social committee of the PSEA provided refreshments during the breaks of the afternoon and morning sessions. The committee on arrangements for the workshop was composed of Arnold Wynne, chairman; Earl Rader, Miss Giacinto, George O. Ott, John W. Sabatine, Miss Adalyn Duval, Mrs. Ruth Beebe, Miss Marjorie Traves, Miss Helen Roche, Miss Evelyn Reimel, Dr. Trever Williams, high school principal, and the head of the various departments of the high school.

Urging
Both instructors urged continued study and preparation in the science and mathematics areas for students able to do the ever increasingly demanding work in these areas. Evans and LaBar both spoke at length on the great need of adequate preparation in these fields if the students from the Bangor Area Joint High School are going to continue to meet the competition they are called upon to face in the college level. The speakers each remarked that the excellent records being made by graduates of the schools in colleges and universities has been due to the ever increasing demands in the subject areas being made by school authorities.

Warren Kressler, president of the PTA, had charge of the brief business session in which officers for the new year were elected. Named to office were Mrs. Abraham Sandler, president; Charles Sipos, vice president; Mrs. Agnes Joella, treasurer and Mrs. John Fisher, secretary.

Edgar Opposes Ike's Budget
WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Opposition to President Eisenhower's $71,800,000,000 budget broke out today in his own family.

Edgar Eisenhower, one of the President's four brothers and a Tacoma, Wash., lawyer, told a newsman:

Question
"I can't understand why the budget is so large, particularly in view of the fact that everybody is crying for economy."
"I certainly feel the cost of government is getting way out of line. Everybody is asking for economy in government because it is taking a large portion of our income as it is, and I'm very conscious of that."

Bangor High School Instructors Conduct Study Of Slate Belt Mathematics, Science

BANGOR—Members of the Parent Teachers Assn. of the Bangor Area Joint High School heard Granville R. Evans, head of the science department and Paul R. LaBar, head of the mathematics department, discuss the areas of these studies as they are related to the success of the children in the high school. The program highlighted the regular meeting of the organization held on Monday night in the high school building.

Findings of studies done in these fields were reported to the parents. Dr. Trever Williams in conducting the meeting stated that the Bangor studies in these subjects were very enlightening in view of a similar study that had been done recently in the city of St. Louis, now commonly referred to as the St. Louis Plan.

Bangor's findings in the studies both Evans and LaBar reported were far superior to the findings in the now famed St. Louis study. The St. Louis plan had been conducted under the leadership of Dr. Phillip J. Hickey, superintendent of schools.

St. Louis
The St. Louis program reported on an enrichment process for bright pupils that had been going on for six years in that city. The results of the effort according to Dr. Hickey were good to excellent. This report on the enriched program was given to the St. Louis Board of Education on January 21. It showed that 38.6 per cent of the students enrolled in the high schools were taking either algebra, geometry or trigonometry and that 33 percent were studying the laboratory science of biology, physics or chemistry. St. Louis officials contended that this was "considerably higher than the average for the country."

Evans and LaBar in their report to the parents notified them that the averages in the Bangor Area Joint High School are far superior to the findings of the St. Louis Plan. In the 1956-57 school year 34.3 percent of students were studying college prep mathematics of some type or another while 74.7 percent of the student body was engrossed in the studies in the same general area. This was a 26 percent increase of the same areas in 1954.

The greatest growth in the local high school has been in the area of science, here it has grown over the past several years from a low of 18.8 percent to a record high of 49.4 percent in 1955-56 and a total over all in 1956-57 school year to 41.7 percent.

Urging
Both instructors urged continued study and preparation in the science and mathematics areas for students able to do the ever increasingly demanding work in these areas. Evans and LaBar both spoke at length on the great need of adequate preparation in these fields if the students from the Bangor Area Joint High School are going to continue to meet the competition they are called upon to face in the college level. 'Straightline Look' Popular

THE FASHION news in virtually all appliances is the new "straight-line look." Refrigerators of 1957, for instance, have clean, straight lines and flat planes, different from anything seen in refrigerators up to now.

Nothing bulges or protrudes from the top, back or sides, which makes it easy to achieve the "built-in look" without built-in expense.

Insulation Helps To Control Climate

INSULATION is a major means of "controlling the climate" inside a home. Right now, with warm weather just ahead, the immediate interest in insulation is focused on its effectiveness in keeping the sun's heat outside the house and thus reducing room temperatures very appreciably.

At least equally important, however, is the excellent job of keeping furnace heat inside the house which insulation does during the cold weather months.

Loss of heat through the walls and ceilings is reduced as much as 60 per cent and fuel bills reduced by as much as one-third. As a matter of fact, insulation is a self-liquidating home improvement, because it can pay for itself in fuel savings in a relatively short time.

Insulating materials are made of mineral wool, rock, glass or slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foils, vermiculite, cotton and other vegetable and mineral matter.

Do-It-Yourself

Usually a home owner can do his own attic insulation, either by stapling blanket insulation between the roof rafters or by spreading bulk insulating material between the attic floor joists.

In cases where the blanket of insulation can be applied on an open surface, the so-called "flexible" type is excellent. This takes the form of "blankets" or "quilts" and comes in long rolls as well as in "batts" or pre-cut sections. It is made wide enough to fit in the hollow spaces between studs, rafters and joists in walls or ceilings or under the roof.

The "batts" or pre-cut sections are simply placed between the joists of unfloored attics. A simple stapling gun can be used to tack each roll. If purchased in long rolls, these can be cut to the desired dimensions as installed. In the case of floored attics, it will be necessary to remove the floorboards.

"Fill type" insulation (which comes in bales or bags) is often favored for floored attics, which can be insulated by removing one of two floorboards and pouring the material under the floored portion, where it can be smoothed by means of a "cardboard rake" nailed to a wooden handle.

"Fill Type" Insulation
If the attic is unfloored, "fill type" insulation can be poured directly from the bag into the spaces between the joists. It should then be evenly off to a three-inch depth.

If you are finishing off an attic, you can insulate at the same time by using "insulating boards" which have sufficient structural strength to use as a base for plaster. Many of these boards can, themselves, provide a decorative finish.

"Reflective" materials afford another type of insulation, which functions by turning back heat much as a mirror reflects light.

Gear Home Workshop For Do-It-Yourself Activities

HAVING DECIDED to join the growing fraternity of do-it-yourself OH! craftsmen, where do you start? The answer, of course, is start by selecting and equipping an adequate place to work, a shop area for your do-it-yourself activities.

Mirrors Add Beauty To Modern Home

YOU CAN add beauty and utility to any room in the house through the use of one of man's oldest decorative assets—the mirror—says June Cabot, director of the Home Arts Council of Libby-Owens-Ford.

Many of the mirror techniques that Miss Cabot suggests lend themselves to the "do-it-yourself" treatment. They offer easy, inexpensive solutions to problems of lighting and expansion that might otherwise require costly structural changes in the house.

To overcome the cramped feeling imparted by a small entrance hall, try a mirror panel on the wall facing the door, or a mirror on the back of the door to create the feeling of added spaciousness.

Decorative
In the living room, decorative mirrors can be used to the best advantage. If the room is long and narrow, it can be "widened" visually by installing a floor-to-ceiling panel mirror on the longest wall area. A mirror wall at the far end of a short room also helps to project space.

In the dining room, a large mirror (either framed or unframed) should be used to reflect the dining table scene. Plate glass mirrors can be used to rejuvenate built-in china or silver cabinets.

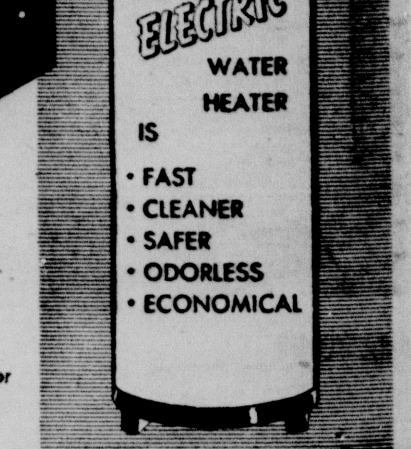

In the kitchen, a large mirror on the wall opposite the window overlooking your back yard enables you to keep an eye on the children at play. A small mirror on the wall opposite the door leading from the kitchen enables you to see who is at the door. Small mirrors secured to the ceiling will give a view of the hard-to-reach top shelves above kitchen cabinets.

Three-Way
A three-way, full-length mirror like dress shops have is easily managed if the room has two closet doors fairly close to each other on one wall. The doors should open inward, toward each other, and can easily be rehinged if they do not. Place standard size mirrors on each door and another on the wall between the doors.

A mirror is a "must" of course for the dressing table, and many variations can be worked out here. If the table is against the wall, try a vertical mirror extending from table top to ceiling.

To bring light into a dark basement, a flat, upward-reflecting mirror on the window sill will prove effective.

Hose For Handles
TO PROVIDE a broader, more comfortably cushioned grip on the wire handles of heavy cans or pails, slit a piece of garden hose and place it over each handle.

Kitchen First In Line For Improvement

IN THE SPRING, when a woman's fancy turns to thoughts of modernizing her home, the kitchen is quite apt to loom first and foremost in her mind's eye. Who, indeed, could expect it to be otherwise? For her kitchen is her home-making center where she spends so much of her time.

Quite often, a completely remodelled kitchen is the objective. Finances permitting, this is all to the good. On the other hand, even if the budget does not permit doing everything at once, you can still get started forthwith on the project of up-dating your kitchen.

There are so many things (each in itself relatively inexpensive) that can be done to improve a kitchen that there is really no reason for waiting. Step by step, you can achieve your ultimate aim of a "dream kitchen," and in the meanwhile enjoy the individual improvements as they are made.

For instance, you can do wonderful things for a kitchen with color. It can make a dark room light, a big one cozy, a small one important.

Darker shades bring walls "closer," pale tones "push" them out. Whites, grays, blues, and greens are cool and restful. Reds, yellows, pinks, and beige are warm and cheerful. Ceilings appear taller when painted light colors, lower when a darker shade than the wall color.

Colorful Surfaces
Work surface coverings add color and can be used in the same shades as walls or in contrasting shades, as desired. Most commonly used materials are linoleum, plastics, wood or stainless steel. Linoleum is excellent for countertops because its resiliency decreases breakage. Other surfaces include tile, heat-treated glass, acid-resistant porcelain enamel, tempered pressed wood and rubber composition plastics.

If you decide to start your kitchen improvements "from the ground up," you should choose a floor covering that is both dirt and grease-resistant. Linoleum, rubber tile, asphalt tile and vinyl plastics are all good. Marbleized or jasper linoleum is easy to care for.

Wall coverings, too, come in a variety of materials. You can use tiling, thin gauge linoleum paint or wall paper.

Adequate cabinet space, designed and located to save time, steps and effort is basic to a modern kitchen. On the unit-by-unit replacement plan, even a modest budget will permit the improvement program to be launched at once.

Wall and base cabinet units can be arranged in scores of different ways to create a kitchen that is really "personalized."

New Gas Ranges
Appliance-wise, a new gas range may well rate top priority in your "Operation Kitchen Improvement."

Today, homemakers look first of all for the top burner heat control, so that they may enjoy the luxury of automatic cooking on top-of-the-range, as well as in the oven. The minute a cooking operation is started, the top burner heat control takes over, turning every pot and pan into an automatic cooking vessel.

Science Does Something About Weather

EVERYBODY still talks about the weather, but now (unlike in Mark Twain's day) a great many people are doing something about it. What they are doing is air-conditioning their homes for cool comfort from one end of the summer to the other. In fact, air-conditioning is fast leaving the "luxury" class and becoming a necessity in the view of most families.

There are several practical ways in which an air-conditioner can be installed in an older home:

(1) Central air-conditioning, which comprises a central unit, ducts and registers; (2) Units that become parts of existing warm-air heating systems; (3) Units that become parts of hotwater heating systems; (4) Individual room air conditioners.

Central System

A central air-conditioning system calls for a basic unit, containing a compressor, condenser, cooling coil, air filter and blower, along with a duct system to rooms and room registers.

The blower pulls warm air into the unit where it is filtered and circulated over coils containing a refrigerant and then blown through the ducts into the house.

The heat from the air is absorbed by the refrigerant in the coils and transferred to the condenser, which (if water cooled) is connected with the house water supply pipes in which the flow of water picks up the heat.

In the air-cooled condenser, the refrigerant is cooled by a stream of air. The operating unit may be located in the attic, basement, utility room or outdoors.

Often the air-conditioning unit can be incorporated into the existing warm-air heating system, thus utilizing the same ducts and registers. "Year 'round" air-conditioning systems are becoming increasingly popular.

Other heating-cooling combinations use water, which is chilled by refrigeration apparatus and circulated through the house by thin pipes, in some cases the same pipes used to circulate hot water for heating. In other cases, small pipes can be installed without expensive alteration.

Combination
One new combination hot-chilled water system uses baseboard distributor units for both heating and cooling. These are installed around the perimeter of the room, at floor level, and appear similar to the conventional baseboard radiator which heats the home.

Secretary Short's visit to the military installation will highlight the huge Armed Forces Day open house activities scheduled for May 18. The day's events will feature displays and exhibits by the Army, Navy and Marine Corps.

Public
The public is invited to witness the various activities. Depot gates will open at 9:30 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m. Open house last year attracted more than 25,000 area residents.

Born in Galena, Mo., Short was educated in the Galena schools, Marionville College, Baker University, and Boston University. While at B. U., he was awarded the Frank D. Howard Fellowship and studied at Berlin, Heidelberg and Oxford universities from 1922-25. Upon his return to the United States, he studied law at Harvard from 1924-26.

For three years, he was professor of psychology and moral and political philosophy at Southwestern College. He occupied the pulpit at Grace Methodist Church, Springfield, Mo., in 1927.

Two years later, he was elected to Congress, and remained a member for 24 years. He was a member of the House Military Affairs and Armed Services Committee for 22 years and during the 83rd Congress was chairman of the House Services Committee.

In the Summer of 1939, Short was a delegate to the 35th Inter-parliamentary Union at Oslo, Norway, and was still in Europe when World War II began. His observations at the time supported Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's belief that France and Britain would be unable to withstand a German attack.

In September, 1946, he urged that stronger American bases be established in the Pacific as "the only way to discourage and prevent further Russian expansion" and prophetically termed Korea "the hot spot" of the Orient.

Delegate
Early in 1947, the Missouri Republican was again a delegate to the meeting of the Inter-parliamentary Union, this time in Cairo, Egypt. On his return, he expressed himself in favor of some degree of aid to Greece and Turkey as "our buffers in the Middle East."

In November, 1948, Short was one of seven members of the House Armed Services Committee to visit Madrid to confer with Spanish leaders. He returned with the firm conviction that "Spain should be in our orbit," as "one of the strongest anti-Communist nations in Europe today."

Short was an official Congressional observer at the signing of the Japanese Peace Treaty in San Francisco in September, 1951. He also served as an alternate delegate to the signing of the United States-Japanese Security Pact.

On March 15, 1957, he was sworn in as assistant secretary of the Army for civil-military affairs.

Congressmen Work For Tax Reductions

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Congressional enthusiasm for tax reduction was reflected today in a flood of tax bills introduced during the first three months of this session.

Out ahead numerically, in the field of general tax relief, are proposals to increase individual income exemptions by $100. For the average family this would mean a tax cut of around $80.

A check of the House Ways and Means Committee, where tax legislation originates, showed that nearly 800 tax relief bills of all descriptions are now on tap awaiting action.

In all, 1,109 revenue bills have been referred to the committee—almost as many in the first three months of this Congress as were introduced in the entire two years of the last Congress.

But before tax-cutting enthusiasm is translated into dollar savings for the public, the government must first tote up its tax "take" after tomorrow's deadline for filing of individual tax returns.

Civil Rights Issue Delayed

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee put off action on the civil rights issue again today, but Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) said it probably would begin considering the legislation April 29.

Eastland would not predict when the committee might take a vote, but Sen. Neely (D-WVa.) offered an estimate that it never would.

Support
Neely, who supports the proposed legislation, said that if action depends on what the committee does, "You are going to get judgment on Judgment Day."

Two motions were reported to have been made at today's closed session, with neither of them coming to a vote. Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) offered a motion to take a vote on May 6 and Sen. Ervin (D-NC) offered one to postpone consideration.

Eagles To Visit With Veterans

A PARTY for veterans confined to the VA Hospital in Wilkes-Barre is planned for Sunday, May 5 by 23 Eagles lodges in North-eastern Pennsylvania.

Stroudsburg Aerie 1106 will be one of the groups represented. An appeal for gifts to take to the veterans was made last night at the lodge's regular meeting by Charles Berger, chairman of a delegation which will take the gifts to Wilkes-Barre.

Berger asked that playing cards, books, games and other types of entertainment suitable for the patients be turned over to him or other members of his committee, which includes Truman Burnett, Ernest Ridgeway, Lester Voss and "Tiny" Newhart. Anyone wishing to donate money may give it to Voss, lodge secretary.

Ridgeway, membership chairman, reported that the Mother's Day class will be initiated at the May 21 meeting. Five propositions for membership were received last night.

Walter Koczot, entertainment chairman, announced that Ladies Night will be observed May 4 with a floor show and dancing to the music of John Altier's orchestra.

Voss reported that Armen Gargone had been readmitted to a hospital in Philadelphia. Truman Burnett presided at the business session, attended by 105 members. A moment of silent prayer was observed for the late Harry Rodenbaugh.

Mrs. Thomas Knepp is chairman of registration. Honorary members of the board will be honored at this meeting.

Also discussed at the meeting was the budget for the coming year. A committee was named to consult with the commissioners. The Way of The Cross

Scene Differs On All Fronts As Jesus Is Nailed To Cross To Be Crucified

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 11th chapter of a 14-part Easter season series to be written by Leonard Randolph. The series is entitled "The Way of the Cross." It will appear each day between this date and Easter.

Eleventh Chapter JESUS

NOW, FATHER, we have reached the summit of the hill.

These faces around me, filled with hate for God and Man, cut into my human torture and cloud my pain. This is the lasting torment: That men should see the countenance of God and turn from it in anger; that men should spit upon the arms of God and tear them from their sockets in contempt for Truth.

Yet send down Your compassion on the least of these—and on these men of power. This death is for no man alone—but for all men.

Give them the light to see the darkness of what shall be done. For this mountain overlooks the ocean of Mankind; this cross they lower me on now embraces Man's children from the beginning of Time to the last second of eternity.

ROMAN SOLDIER

His mother is still here. someone should have taken her away—that man standing beside her or the other women. Why don't they turn her face and keep her from watching this.

I think the captain has as little stomach for this as I do, now. Yet he orders me to thrust the nails into this man's feet and hands, knowing that I am sickened. It won't last much longer. We can be thankful for that.

The rest of our men are drunk. Someone in the crowd has passed

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bleed or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: rubs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAL, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAL's great moisturiz-ing capacity, plus COLONAL's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAL is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAL neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAL exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAL, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Certain common denominators seem to determine the conversation of the man-on-the-street. The weather, of course, is the greatest common denominator and consequently is the one topic on which everyone can talk.

You and your fellow man may or may not share an interest in children, politics, education, social life or religion, but the sun shines on the just and the unjust, and a drop in temperature or barometric reading brings a corresponding reaction in the populace, so you can always talk about the weather.

You can also all join in a conversation about a common disaster like fire, flood or famine, and I often think that the general good feeling which sprang up after the flood stemmed in part from the fact that nobody had to cudgel their brains for something to talk about to anybody else.

Well, yesterday, money seemed to be the common denominator. With all the work on income tax returns, personal finances were very much in everybody's mind; and with budget hearings for private and public funds in the offing, agency finances were very much in the minutes of their directors' meetings.

But while the weather or disasters evoke a sort of excitement, talk of money seems to bring on a general depression. The difficulty of balancing how much it costs to run a house or an agency or the government against how much money there is available is not a stimulating topic.

Maybe we'd better get back to talking about the weather. A late Spring may not be the happiest topic in the world, but it does hold promise.

STRANGE FRUIT—for this Christmas tree at the Gilbert Campbell home, 15 Morningside Ave., are the hundreds of decorated egg shells, the result of the leisure activities of the year for the whole family. (Staff Photo by Carlton)

Easter Egg Tree Provides Family Fun For Whole Year

The biggest Easter egg tree of the year is now in full bloom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Campbell, 15 Morningside Ave., Stroudsburg. It not only doubled the life of the family Christmas tree and of the eggs which went into the family's egg dishes, but it also provided pleasant leisure time activity for the whole family.

Collecting and saving the egg shells through the year was Mrs. Campbell's part in the family project which she inaugurated. The Easter Egg tree is a Pennsylvania Dutch custom which is sometimes varied by using pussy willows instead of the Christmas tree. This year the Campbells saved their Christmas tree until all the needles dropped off. Mrs. Campbell then sprayed the branches with yellow paint.

The hollowed eggs were reserved for rainy days when with paint set, paste and remnants of material everybody in the family came up with some clever ideas for decorating the eggs. Some of the eggs are painted with designs. Others have been made into hanging baskets. Still others have been changed with paper, cotton, or material scraps into animals or faces.

Place of honor on the tree goes to the bird perched on the very top. There are also fish, faces and other fanciful figures, with enough eggs left over to fill the base and to give away to friends.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FOR WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Mixed vibrations with Venus in outstandingly auspicious aspect. This stimulates artistic matters, home and personal affairs. But be sensibly careful in all undertakings. Think!

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—You are more favored than many now—with Venus in very favorable aspect. Personal interests and your specific work should progress nicely. Be careful in hazardous undertakings, unfamiliar ventures.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Even though your Mercury is not so stimulating, the day should neither stymie nor confuse you. Progress will depend largely on your intelligent management and your ability to give ordinary matters a unique twist. Be careful.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—The position of the Moon now suggests consideration for others, control of the emotions. You can accomplish much good however.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Plan and work carefully now if you would get full benefit from the influences later in the week. Put all your affairs in good order.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—A good insight into a period, keep your wits about you, and your fertile brain busy, and things will turn out satisfactorily. Improvement is the keynote of today's success.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Like Taurus, the edge on the many now, being governed by very generous influences. BUT it is with you with them that will tag your day as successful or otherwise. Don't lose sight of your ambitions.

Anti-Inflation Policies Hurt

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 16

Western Europe's economic expansion faltered in 1956, mainly because of governmental anti-inflation policies, the U. N. Economic Commission for Europe reported today.

The commission's annual survey of European economy claimed that the anti-inflation policies in some cases even defeated their own ends by indirectly accelerating the rising price-wage spiral.

BANQUET time is here, especially for those who pastime in bowling leagues the past eight months. And the keggers will sit down and talk over the near misses, good games and, in general, set the stage for next year. In between the gourmet will partake in steak, chicken, turkey, and ham.

Some of the feasts are slated for this week, with Harmon's Recreation League settling down at Varkony's Diamond Inn today at 7 p.m.; and Industrial circuit loosening its belts Saturday at Ye Sayers Inn at 7 p.m.

Speaking of fetes, Gray's Chevrolet, season and playoff kings in the Pocono Mountain Basketball League, will be cited with a banquet at the Coral Reef, Tannersville, Louis Gray, one of the area's best booster of sports, will toss a steak dinner for his champs, Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Jim Fritz, one of Jack Kist's good ends a few years back who also did East Stroudsburg High's punting, is now working hard for a berth on the freshman football team at the University of Georgia.

Jim, recently honorably discharged from the Marine Corps, is making a strong bid for a position on the Bulldog yearlings.

Alex and Vee Tranchek report that their championship nine-hole Indian Mountain Golf Course is in tip top shape. Already hundreds of linkmen have swung their way around the picturesque layout and have dubbed the course ready for the "pro, amateur or just plain swinger."

Old home week was nearly observed in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg in opposite directions yesterday when Harold Bellis sent his Phillipsburg, N. J. High nine against the Cavaliers at Memorial Stadium and a mile and half away at Gordon Giffels Field, Pen Argyl faced the Mountaineers.

Bellis is a former baseball coach at Pen Argyl and passed his ex-school team's bus on the way to his skirmish with the Cavaliers. It's probably as close athletically Harold has come to his old State Belt since leaving the acre awhile back.

Incidentally, Bellis who also is head football coach, has been turning out good grid eleven at the Stateliner institutions since taking over the reigns of George (Sammy) Moyer. He has the Indian sign on Easton, grabbing two straight grid wins over the Rovers the past two years. In both of these tilts, Bellis' proteges were expected to be on the short end of the score.

Paul (Doc) Lim is getting his share of hits for Ursinus college nine. The other day "Doc", shortstop for the Strouds during the summer months, cracked out three safeties, and yesterday the former Stroudsburg High two-sport star knocked out two more.

Ursinus, like young Lim, is headed for a great season, owning a 3-1 record, thus far.

To Drill Today

THE ANALOMINK baseball team of the Pocono Mountain League will hold a practice session at the Tannersville Field today, starting at 5 p.m.

Manager Bob Bush requests that all players turn out for the drill.

Lane KO Winner

MIAMI, Fla., April 16 (AP)—Bobbie Lane, 164, of Miami knocked out Tony Masciarelli, 164, of Pompano Beach tonight in the ninth of 10 scheduled rounds.

Snyder Pitches Four Innings Of Hitless Ball In 15-1 Rout

STROUDSBURG HIGH continued to get good hitting and top-flight pitching yesterday as the Mountaineers routed Pen Argyl, 15-1, on Gordon Giffels field.

Jerry Stulgaitis' nine combined the pitching talents of Jim Snyder, a southpaw, and righthander Ron (Super) Phillips and a batting attack led by Catcher Don Stopp to propel the Mountaineers to their second straight win of the young season.

Snyder, who got credit for the victory, pitched hitless and runless ball the first four innings before he retired in favor of Phillips. The "Superman" was touched for the only Grene Wave hits (2) and Pen Argyl's only tally in the sixth.

Don Stopp, via a 3-for-4 batting exhibition which were good for three RBIs, spearheaded the 15-hit Mountaineer attack. Brother Ron Stopp, Barry Tretheway, Phillips and Frank Radler also chipped in with two safeties each.

Extra Base Hits
One of Tretheway's blows was a double. The big extra-base hit of the game also was supplied by a Mountaineer—Bill Schoonover who patted out a triple.

Stroudsburg had control from the start, scoring five runs in the opening frame on hits by the two Stoppes, Radler and a Pen Argyl error.

The Mountaineers made at 7-0 in the second and 9-0 in the fourth with a pair of two-run splurges. Stulgaitis' crew broke the game wide open in the fifth with six runs on singles by Dick Cramsey, Tretheway, Ron Stopp, Phillips, Radler and Art Fry and Schoonover's three-base wallop.

Tainted Run
Pen Argyl's run came across in the sixth on two hits, one a blooper that fell between Fry and Tretheway and the other a clean smash to left by Ron Shipman. In between a Mountaineer miscue on a double play ball let the unearned tally come over.

Morgan Hurls Four-Hitter

KANSAS CITY, April 16 (AP)—Big Tom Morgan proved his worth as a starting pitcher today by limiting the Detroit Tigers to four hits and giving the Kansas City Athletics a 2-1 victory before a crowd of 24,457 who sat through a misty rain for the season's opener.

Frank Lary, whose 21 victories last season was tops in the American League, battled Morgan on almost even terms until the sixth when Gus Zernial opened the inning with a home run over the left field wall. The A's followed this up in the seventh with a run scored on Jim Pisoni's single, a sacrifice by Morgan and an RBI single by Joe Demaestri.

The Tigers, who had been limited to two hits by Morgan for the first seven innings, almost got something started in the eighth. With one out, Harvey Kuenn shot Chuck Maxwell then slammed a triple past Johnny Groth in right, scoring Kaline. Morgan force Ray Boone to fly out to end the threat.

Pocono Turf Group Hears Talk On 'Disease In Weeds'

POCONO MANOR—J. E. Gallagher, chief of the research department of the American Paint Company, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Pocono Turf Association at Pocono Manor here yesterday.

Gallagher spoke on "Disease In Weeds" and showed slides in explaining the various points in his talk.

Golfing was enjoyed during the day and was followed by the meeting and dinner. Al Smith, assistant golf professional at Pocono Manor, was host.

Turf association vice president George Smith was in charge of the session. Other officers of the group are Russell Scott, Mountain Manor, treasurer, and Del Breakstone, Hollenbeck, N. J., secretary.

Wins In Golf
In the blind kickers golf play during the afternoon, Larry Munther, of Morrisville, N. J., took first place honors. Second was Leo Heller, of Philadelphia, followed by Dr. Paul Crawford, of Kneelworth, N. J.

The next meeting of the group will be held at Lehigh Country Club with Paul Weiss, of Bethlehem, as host. Weiss is national president of Golf Course's Superintendent Greenskeepers.

LL Sets Up 5 Optional Regulations

ALLENTOWN—Little League baseball entered several optional rulings in the books at a district meeting here Monday.

Clair Bloss, of Tannersville, and Charles Siglin, of Barret, represented the Pocono LL at the session attended by league officials from the entire Lehigh Valley.

District Chairman John K. Connen of Allentown, who attended the recent National Little League conference in Chicago, presided at the session.

New Options
Connen explained that new regulations under the LL by-laws now makes it optional for each league to play games on Sunday and at night under the aircights.

He also said that the substitution rule was amended, opening the door for a player to be taken out and later put back in the game.

Other changes which will be left entirely up to each circuit is the wearing of sponsorship lettering on players' suits and the wearing of LL patches on the sleeves.

Connen emphasized that all these proposals must first be acted upon by each league before they can be put into effect.

Cimoli Homer In 12th Tops Phillies, 7-6

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA, April 16 (AP)—Gino Cimoli's 12th inning home run, the third off pitcher Robin Roberts, the National League's gopher ball king, powered the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 7-6 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies to tie the Frenchmen four games to one.

Early 3-0 Lead
The Cardinals, denied a four-game sweep by a Bruin comeback that snared a 2-0 victory in Boston last Sunday, made no mistake on this one, building a 3-0 lead before the second period was barely underway.

It was a furiously fought game, with numerous penalties and a free-for-all breaking out just before the opening period came to a close.

Eagles Rally To Gain Win Over Bangor

BANGOR—Nazareth High came up with two late inning rallies to out a 3-1 victory over Bangor in an exhibition game between the two Lehigh-Northampton League rivals here yesterday.

The Blue Eagles, behind the two-hit pitching of Connie Shimer, overcame a 1-0 Bangor edge with the tying run in the fifth and putting across the clinchers in the sixth.

J. L. Williams, making his first start for the Slaters, hurled commendable ball for five innings. Brian Jones, his relief in the sixth, was tagged with the loss.

Bangor Ahead
Bangor went ahead 1-0 in the second when Williams tripled and scored in Shimer's bail. This held up until the fifth when Nazareth began roaring back.

Williams was a two-time hitter for the Slaters, while Shimer garnered a pair for the Eagles.

'E' Completes Final Plans For Grid Fete

EAST STROUDSBURG HIGH got great pitching from leftthander Charley Lupin and rightie Evan Reese yesterday but it wasn't enough to save the Cavaliers from going down to a 1-0 loss at the hands of Phillipsburg, N. J. High.

Showing remarkable control and poise on wind-swept Memorial Stadium's diamond, Lupin and Reese set down the invaders with only four hits and except for an error in the third frame might have held the Garnet scoreless over the seven-inning route.

But as strong was the Cavalier's pitching, just the opposite was their hitting as three Phillipsburg hurlers limited Jack Kist's boys to just two safeties, one a single down the left field line by Catcher Bob Stine and the other a one-baser by Helmut Gartner.

Winning Run
Phillipsburg got what proved to be the winning run in the third when Daniels, the starting and winning hurler, beat out one of the scratch hits and took second on Charley Lupin's overthrow on the play. After gaining third on a grounder, Daniels scored on an infield out.

By a quick fate Eastburg missed a great opportunity to score and maybe put over the winning runs in the fourth. Stine walked and stole second to start the frame. Herman and Frank Lupin went down on strikes but Dale Metzgar kept the rally alive by getting life on an error, Stine holding second.

Corky Smith came up and lined a drive past the Garnet's second baseman and the ball caromed off the bleachers in right into the hands of rightfielder Bill Kravick who tossed Smith out at first to retire the side and snuff the Cavaliers bid.

The victory was the third straight for unbeaten Phillipsburg, while the loss was the second consecutive for the Cavaliers.

Today Eastburg to the road, talking on Port Jervis High, on the New York staters field.

Fitted into the nose of a Nike boost-rocket are two toy model-sized aircraft, each with a different wing configuration. An Honest John rocket forms the first stage of the missile. The technique allows scientists to study how different wing sweep angles behave under the same flight conditions. At left, a five-stage rocket train is readied for flight during research tests into the possibility of passenger-carrying rocket gliders. 'Pleasure Centers' May Lie In Middle Of Brain

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third in a series on mental illnesses and progress being made on cases in this field that is currently appearing in The Daily Record.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Deep within your brain may lie groups of brain cells that could give magnificent feelings of bliss and pleasure.

Just such amazing "pleasure centers" have been found in rats' brains.

Activate a pleasure center with a tiny electric shock, and even a very hungry rat likes the result better than eating. The feelings can gratify the drives for hunger, thirst and sex.

Arrange the setup so the rat can give himself the shocks, and he will do it up to 5,000 times an hour. Some rats stimulated themselves 2,000 times an hour for 24 hours.

Shocks
But produce the shocks in nearby brain areas, and it hurts.

Tiny shocks in different parts of human brains have made people fearful, or gave them hallucinations, or warm, pleasant sensations, or made them more friendly and talkative.

These are some results from new research using tiny electrical probes to explore secrets of the brain. The findings may become very valuable in combatting or preventing mental diseases.

Ultra-thin needles or electrodes are thrust deep into the brain, without causing any pain or damage. The needles can be left in place for days or months. Tiny electric shocks can be set off at points along the needles, to stir specific areas of the brain into action. (It is entirely different from giving potent electric shock treatments for some mental diseases.)

This technique is helping map mysteries of the primitive brain, the deeper core of the brain which was well developed in animals 100 million years ago. It controls automatic affairs, like heart beat and breathing, and acts to arouse and satisfy basic needs such as hunger and sleep.

Over it lies the new brain or cortex, extremely highly developed in humans, which is our thinking machine. The cortex has been fairly well mapped. It's known what areas record taste, smell, sound, and control movements of arms and legs according to our mental orders.

The cortex can give orders to the lower or old brain, and also the old brain can send orders or alarms to the cortex in the form of emotions and emergency impulses.

Now evidence is mounting that specific areas of the old brain initiate emotions of fear, anger, pleasure, and basic drives including hunger, sex and thirst.

At Yale University, research teams headed by Dr. Jose Delgado and Neal A. Miller can arouse pain, hunger, fear, sex drive, rage and other emotions by stimulating particular areas of the old brain in cats and monkeys.

Dr. James Olds, now of the University of California, discovered the pleasure centers in rats. He and associates at Montreal inserted electrodes into slightly different areas than those first touched by the Yale researchers.

Now the shocks became a reward, not punishment. Animals could be trained to do things by buzzing their pleasure centers, even to foregoing food when hungry.

Clincher

The clincher came when the apparatus was arranged so rats could turn on the shocks themselves by pressing a pedal. They loved it.

Just what sensations the rats felt is not known, of course. Dr. Olds theorizes the shocks activated some nerve cells excited by satisfaction of basic hunger, sex and other drives.

Other researchers find similar effects in monkeys. This indicates that humans too may have such pleasure centers.

Electrodes have been implanted harmlessly in a small number of mental patients and victims of severe epilepsy.

Depending upon location, the shocks produced reactions of fear, hallucinations, warm pleasure, amiable talkativeness, and sometimes the feeling of having a sensation or experiencing an event that had occurred in the past.

Routine Check Ends Lengthy FBI Search

DETROIT, April 16 (AP)—Trapped by a routine customs check at the Canadian border, dapper, free-spirited L. Ewing Scott was turned over to the FBI today to await return to California on a charge of murdering his wealthy socialite wife.

Scott's arrest in Windsor, Ont., last night and his definite identification by the FBI today ended an international manhunt that went on for nearly a year.

After he was whisked across the border at noon, the 60-year-old handsome retired stockbroker finally acknowledged that he was the fugitive wanted at Los Angeles on charges of murdering his wife Evelyn, 63, and squandering her $600,000 fortune.

Arraigned on a fugitive warrant in Dist. Court here, Scott had nothing to say. But his attorney offered no objection to a district attorney's request that he be held without bail.

Hearing
Judge Thomas P. Thornton ordered Scott held pending a hearing May 7 on removal to California. In requesting that no bail be fixed, Chief Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. George E. Woods said a murder conviction in California would involve the death penalty.

Scott was tripped up by a Canadian customs inspector as he tried to enter Canada to drive to Buffalo. Scott used the name "Lewis Stewart" and the inspector recalled that was an alias listed for Scott in the "wanted" circular on the fugitive.

Questioned by Windsor police, Scott insisted that his name was Stewart and he refused to be fingerprinted. In Canada, a person held on an open charge has to consent to be fingerprinted.

Scott demanded the services of a lawyer and was turned over to immigration authorities.

Stock Market Continues To Decline

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—The stock market continued its irregular decline today on lessening volume but aluminum and selected issues made some wide gains.

Wide-moving Lukens Steel once again raced ahead. Gulf Oil and Aluminum Ltd. were other fast steppers.

Lukens was apparently still riding high on its excellent earnings reports and good prospects. Other stocks responded in normal fashion to corporate news affecting them.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 30 cents to $17.80, the industrials down 40 cents, the rails down 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,151 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances by 480 to 415. There were 65 new 1957 highs against 24 new lows.

Volume totaled 1,800,000 shares compared with 2,010,000 yesterday.

Among the 15 most active stocks there were 11 advances and 4 declines.

Lukens was the most active stock, up 5 1/4 at $41 on $9,600 shares.

Kaiser Aluminum, up 2 1/4, was the most heavily traded in its group. Aluminum Ltd. rose 3 1/4 and Alcoa 1 1/4.

Timken Roller Bearing rose 1 on news of its 2-for-1 stock split proposal. Goodrich rose 1 1/4 as the company announced a 10 per cent rise in expansion spending to $1 million dollars.

International Paper lost 1 1/4, U. S. Gypsum 1 1/4, Westinghouse Electric 3/4, Caterpillar 1 1/4 and Kennecott 3/4.

PHILIP M. TALBOTT (above), Washington, D. C., department stock executive, will take office April 30 as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce. He is widely known for his activities in business, civic, educational and charitable organizations.

Lukens was the most active stock, up 5 1/4 at $41 on $9,600 shares.

Religion Today Easter Suffers In Comparison With Christmas

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Without Easter there could not have been a Christian religion.

Easter is the highest, most ancient festival of the church. It is the key—the fulfillment. If Easter had not happened, Christmas would be meaningless.

Yet in the popular mind, in this Christian country at least, Easter suffers from comparison with Christmas as a festival.

It can be argued Christmas is a folk festival as well as religious observance. But Easter too has popular traditions that date back to ancient nature rites. The word Easter itself is supposed to derive from Ostara, the Anglo-Saxon goddess of spring to whom the month equivalent to our April was dedicated.

In spite of this, do great masses of people get "the Christmas spirit" as they do "the Christmas spirit"? Do Easter hymns, as do Christmas carols, pour forth from radio and television screens ahead of the sacred day? Is Easter Sunday—or Monday—a nonworking holiday?

No.

Of course, Easter doesn't go unnoticed, even by the non-churchgoers who take Christmas to their bosom. We have bunnies and Easter egg hunts. There's the Easter parade and the flurry of shopping so we'll look good in the church we just possibly haven't visited since Christmas.

At least one big store has a man in a white rabbit suit dandling tots on his knee, presuming asking them what they want for Easter.

For the devout Christian who observes Lent and attends daily services, Easter has the greatest significance.

For the Eastern Orthodox Church, the season's observance begins on Sunday before Ash Wednesday.

The Roman Catholic Church starts Lenten observance on Ash Wednesday. It eliminates music from services and omits the Gloria and other prayers expressing joy except on the major feast days.

Two weeks before Easter Sunday all statues are shrouded in purple as another expression of mourning.

But on the joyful Easter Sunday, the choir is heard again, statues are uncovered and the priest, who has been garbed in purple, appears in white vestments symbolizing Christ's triumph over the grave.

What about Protestants, not all of whom observe Lent?

"With the Episcopalians and Lutherans and some others it's a climax looked forward to," says Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the United Lutheran Church of America.

"We Lutherans have special services all through Lent, daily during Holy Week. Protestants are beginning to learn that Lent is being observed. It used to be opposed because of wanting to differ from Catholic observances. Now more and more are observing Lent."

Question
But why doesn't Easter equal Christmas in popular appeal?

Dr. Fry suggests Easter is not so commercialized as Christmas. "It's not so easy to sentimentalize the Resurrection of the Christ as it is the birth of a baby. And sentiment is the stock in trade of Madison Avenue."

"But the glorious thing about Easter," continues Dr. Fry, "is that it can't be separated from the Resurrection."

"The Resurrection of Christ is the foundation stone on which the edifice of our faith is built. It is the life of our Lord, it gives color and meaning to all He has done and said. Shining ahead, it proves the victory of good over evil. It assures us of victorious strength for our own lives."
